Needs Led Approach Information Sessions for Parent Carers

The Wiltshire Parent Carer Council (WPCC) is running free information sessions about the Needs Led Approach in Wiltshire for families of children and young people who may be neurodivergent.

Why Are We Offering these Sessions?

Families are now required to follow the Needs Led Approach if they are considering the Neurodevelopment Pathway assessment process for their child or young person.

The Needs Led Approach is a holistic approach to support and empower families in a creative way that aims to help everyone to understand whether an assessment will meet the needs that have been identified.

It is usually completed in partnership between home and settings to improve outcomes and experience for children and young people who may be neurodivergent.

The Needs Led Approach will not affect children who are already on the Neurodevelopment Pathway and is only required for new referrals.

The WPCC is offering these free to attend sessions for parent carers who want to understand more about the process.
